Letter From Idaho.

IDAHO CITY (I. T.) Aug. 12, 1866.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Your readers in the Willamette valley are interested in the prosperity of the denizens of this far off interior land of gold as much or more than any other people on the Pacific coast. Whatever tends to promote the development of our mining and commercial interests, must in all the lengthening future exert a corresponding salutary influence upon the somewhat slow but sure and healthy growth of "Webfoot land." The Columbia river, in spite of croakers here or elsewhere, (favoring transportation and travel via Chico to California) will continue to bear on its bosom the rich products of our mines until that route is superseded by a continuous line of railway from Great Salt Lake City to Portland. The truth of the above proposition is admitted by every man of much mental acumen in this country; yet, you will, at every turn and corner of the streets of Idaho and on the highways find men sounding the praises of the Chico route. But your people need never fear so long as the Columbia river flows seaward. They may be equally assured that the present steamboat line is but the harbinger of a more felicitous and cheap line of transit from these interior gold and silver regions to the sea. Along the Columbia river which gorges the entire Cascade and coast ranges of mountains, is the route designated by nature for a railroad to the Pacific ocean, and any amount of speculative theorizing can never change these facts of nature or drive men long from their material interests.

A WORD OR TWO ABOUT OUR MINES.

Our quartz mines are undoubtedly as good as any on the continent, not excepting those of Nevada; but our quartz speculators, like those first in that Territory, have been the curse of this country. They have rushed into the New York market with thousands of "wild cat" feet lodes not worth a bit per hundred feet, and after persistent bumming they have contrived to sell to, and of course, fleece a few of the Eastern capitalists out of their money. The Eastern buyer sends on his mining machinery, and generally selects one of the men who, in the sale of the mine, assisted to bilk him, and lays out three or four times the amount of money paid for the mine, and after waiting a twelvemonth for dividends learns, to his sad regret, that the money expended by his agent has been foolishly spent, and perhaps pocketed by his confidential agent, and his property tied up by legal proceedings. The unprincipled quartz speculator has, for the time being, tied up the mining prosperity of Idaho. It will not long remain so bound.

The placer mines of the Boise basin are fast being yielded to Chinamen. I think this is the best China mining camp in the world. A year hence and ten thousand Chinamen will mine the deep hill claims of Boise.

Next Wednesday a Mr. Patterson, well known to the mining pioneers of this Territory, starts with a party of about sixty men to prospect the source of Snake river and the Wind river mountains from where he lately returned bringing flattering accounts of the prospect for gold in that heretofore almost unexplored country. It is regarded by all as a hazardous expedition. The Crow and Blackfeet Indians own the country and being not on the best terms with each other, are in just the right frame of mind to take in any white intruder they may chance to meet. We shall await the result of their explorations with intense anxiety.

POLITICS.

To-morrow is election day. Of the results of it I am of the opinion that the Republicans will have a respectable minority in the next Legislative Assembly; a fair proportion of the county officers of the Territory, and run Holbrook much closer than two years ago; and if Kirk ... gets 300 majority outside of Boise county—the strong Democratic county—he may be elected. A success that might be easily attained were it not for the mercenary character of some of the Republican politicians in this county. They are a trading, unscrupulous set; and the Democrats are just about as low down as any set of men I ever saw. There is not much choice ... them personally. We have had of imports on the Democratic side Ex-Gov. Wallace, the defunct, Pat. Malone, and last, though not least in the estimation of the chivalry, Jimmy O'Meara, of the learned pig notoriety, whose martial fame equals, if not surpasses Waller's in Mexico. Waller boasted of his wounds, the other night in a speech here, received in battle. But, O'Meara, being an excessively modest man, spoke never once of his. Pat., poor fellow, is in hot water, and I think his party friends will ruin him. They have entirely thrown off on him—traded him off. The ... and space will not permit me to tell why and how. Suffice it to say that he has been meanly treated.

The Union county candidates had a grand rally last night on the street, whereat Malone took occasion to make a speech in his own defence, having been the day before assailed most unmercifully in the columns of the World, editorially, as well as by the publication of a characteristic letter from James D. Fay, of Jackson county, Oregon. His speech was uproariously applauded, especially by his own countrymen. He made Fay out to be a most contemptible, mangy puppy, of the hybrid type described by Nesmith. He read, while on the stand, a letter from some unknown member of his party, received yesterday, threatening his life unless he keeps steady. He "intends, if did he must, to die game." He says he "had rather be a dog and bay the moon" than wear any man's collar. Bully for Pat.

OUR SUNDAY AMUSEMENTS.

This is our day for theatrical shows, foot races, man fights, dog fights, drunkenness, duelling, &c. Of duels, we have had two on the square! Nobody hurt. Just as this moment, over the way, are two men fighting a little, while farther up town in a pen are a couple of bull dogs chawing each other for $150 a side, for the benefit of a motley crowd of rough men, degraded women and precocious boys. Beautiful country, this!

I will send the returns of the election in my next in a day or two. For the present I must subside.

THE PRUSSIAN "NEEDLE" GUN.—As this weapon was referred to a few days since in the German war news, a few words in description of its plan and principles will not be out of place:

The cartridge used in the "Needle" gun is made of stiff card-board, the ball, powder, and explosive composition being contained in one and the same cylinder. Its great peculiarity is that the detonating powder is placed immediately in the rear of the base of the ball, and between it and the powder. The advantage of this is that, when the powder is ignited, that portion next the ball, in which combustion is first perfected, exerts its full force upon the projectile, the powder in rear also exerting its influence, as it becomes almost simultaneously ignited. Under the present system, in which the part of the powder next to the breech of the gun is first ignited, a portion of the powder is frequently expelled from the gun with the ball in condition of only partial combustion, the explosive force of the powder first consumed being adequate to expel the ball and the powder in its front before the whole charge has time to become entirely ignited. Thus in the "Needle" gun all the powder is consumed, and applied to the best effect, and so as to obtain its fullest force at the same instant and in the same direction.

The "Needle" gun is a breech-loader; and when the trigger is pulled, a stout "needle" or wire is thrust through the base of the cartridge, parallel with its axis into the detonating charge by the ball, causing its explosion and the ignition of the cartridge. In accuracy the "Needle" gun cannot be surpassed, and its effective range is said to be about fifteen hundred yards. It is, however, doubtful whether it will be found to bear with impunity the necessarily rough treatment of an active campaign. The Prussian Jaggers, and sharpshooters generally, are armed with this formidable weapon, and upon a skirmish line, when it can be used with care and deliberation, it must prove highly effective.

John Bright, M. P., in the course of a recent speech made the statement, on the authority of one of the largest cotton spinners in Lincoln, that the operatives in the mills were subscribers and readers of quite many American newspapers as of their own country.

FROM MONTANA.

We find the following in the Helena Republican of the 2d inst.:

A RICH YIELD FROM THE PARK MILL.

The mill, which was formerly known as Fisher's, is now owned by L. O. Turnley. After having spent nearly four thousand dollars in putting his mill in complete repair, Mr. Turnley set it in operation two weeks ago, running it upon fourth class rock from claim No. 1 west of Discovery, on the Park, alias Sultana Lode. After running a week, he cleaned up $1050 62 after assay. He is now running upon richer rock and expects much better results. Although this mill is a small one, its ten, six hundred and sixty pound stamps, seem destined to pound out a nice little fortune for its owners.

THE CROPS OF PRICKLY PEAR.

The grasshoppers have not so severely afflicted the vicinity of Ten Mile creek, did far less damage in the valley of the Prickly Pear. Near the mouth of the Canyon Ferry Road on the Prickly Pear, there are, from three to four hundred acres of wheat, oats and barley in splendid condition, and all owned by half a dozen farmers. The oats are nearly as high as one's shoulders, and so thickly set that they readily support a man's hat when thrown upon them. Some of the fields of oats will yield one hundred bushels to the acre. The hay is doing splendidly, and in many instances will yield two tons to the acre. The potatoes are far advanced, some of them being already as large as hens' eggs. Taken all in all, the crops at the locality in question, present as encouraging an appearance as did ever those in any farming region in the most favored portions of the West.

THE ROUSSEAU-GRINNELL AFFAIR.—The interminable, talk-provoking and time-consuming Rousseau-Grinnell affair terminated in the House of Representatives. Gen. Rousseau, after making a ... tion as a Representative from Kentucky in Congress, and sent a copy of the document to the Speaker's desk. This was, doubtless, intended to avoid the humiliation and mortification of being reprimanded at the bar of the House by the Speaker, and if so, was an ill-advised and foolish step on the part of Gen. Rousseau. The House, after a protracted discussion, refused to ... this ... and demanded the enforcement of the order of the House.

Gen. R... then advanced and took position in front of the ... Speaker addressed him as follows:

"General Rousseau: The House of Representatives has declared you guilty of a violation of its rights and privileges ... in debate. This conclusion they have placed on their journal, and have ordered that you be publicly reprimanded by the Speaker at the bar of the House. No words of mine can add to the force of this order, in obedience to which I now denounce you its reprimand."

Gen. Rousseau returned to his seat, and a few moments afterward retired from the Hall.

Every one gives credit to Speaker Colfax for the delicate manner in which he worded the reprimand. It was well done. Whether the resignation of Gen. Rousseau will be accepted by his constituents remains to be seen.—Alta's Washington Letter, July 21st.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE.

THURSDAY MORNING, AUGUST 23, 1866.

Concerning Dictators.

It is very encouraging to find men who afford us examples of great public virtue. It gives us larger faith in man and makes us firmer believers in his capacity for self-government. No nobler spectacle was ever witnessed than that of a man great in mind and soul, and fully devoted to the idea of liberty, declining autocratical power. Our country has witnessed one such example. At the close of the Revolution the soldiers were dissatisfied with the treatment they had received at the hands of Congress, and breaking into loud murmurs, expressed themselves ready to depose that body from power and make Washington sole ruler. The Father of his Country rejected the offer, but it is nowhere recorded that he afterwards boasted that he might have been dictator had he so desired, or that he was too incorruptible a patriot to think for a moment of building up his own fortunes on the ruins of the liberties of the people. Few men besides him have rejected offers of this kind, or hesitated to seize any opportunity for their advancement to a throne. Diocletian, indeed, abdicated imperial power in the greatest empire of the world, and turned his attention to the cultivation of cabbages—an occupation for which he was perhaps better fitted than for a throne; Charles V. of Germany, threw off the imperial purple, went into retirement and died a recluse. But these personages after all, were not actuated by a desire to serve the cause of popular liberty. In abdicating their crowns they were conscious of no better motives than were Caesar and Sylla in causing themselves to be proclaimed dictators, or Louis Napoleon in declaring himself emperor. Few, therefore, are the examples of men who, when opportunities were offered for becoming powerful, have acted with a pure disinterestedness, and solely for the people's good. Our country, as before remarked, has seen one such example—yes, two, if we may believe the testimony of a prominent individual who on many public occasions has styled himself the preserver of the liberties of the people and begged to know who has done more for the advancement of the public welfare than himself.

We are informed by the person last alluded to that had he accepted the powers with which Congress desired to invest him he "could have remained at the Capitol of the United States, with his satraps and dependants in every town and village, and proclaimed himself dictator." Very likely. He certainly could have remained and no doubt will remain at the Capital—until the end of his term. He could, no question, have proclaimed himself dictator sometime ago; but had he done so it would have been his last public appearance until his arraignment before the Senate on impeachment for treason. It would be a very easy thing for him to "proclaim himself dictator" at any time. The opportunity is just as good now as it would have been had he not pretended to decline imaginary powers and compelled Congress to pass necessary legislation over his veto. Any President could proclaim himself dictator. That is a small circumstance. But to become and remain a dictator would be quite another matter. The occupant of the White House, who furnishes the country quarterly with an inventory of his many virtues, is a very great man—if we may believe his accounts of himself; but if he were to make the attempt to do the thing which he affects to think would be so easy, he would quickly learn that to become an actual dictator would be a very different thing from proclaiming himself one. Anybody can call spirits from the vasty deep, but whether they will come when called, is another question.

Therefore we should hesitate to believe that we owe it entirely to the disinterested patriotism of the head of the Executive Department that the country is not now governed by a dictator, and that dictator, himself. We hope to be pardoned for intimating that we do not consider the people indebted entirely for their liberties to the simple fact that the unambitious person who says he has refused the dictatorship is content to remain a "tribune." We beg to be forgiven for stating our belief that the rectitude of a single person and his devotion to liberty are not the only barriers that stand between the people of the United States and a relentless despotism. In short, we doubt whether the good intentions of our "tribune" are the only safeguards of popular liberty. And until this fact is established we must beg to withhold our gratitude from him who, by reason of his not having made himself a dictator, claims to have done more for the public welfare than any man of his time.

"Here is on the verge of the Government, as it were, a body which assumes to be the Congress of the United States, but is, in fact, a Congress of only part of the States."—A. Moses' Johnson.

"There is on the verge of the Government" a person who assumes to be President of the United States, but is, in fact, a President of only a part of the States, he was elected by the very same faction of the people that elected this "Rump Congress." It will occur to most people that Congress has as good a title to its claim of being the Congress of the United States, as A. Johnson has to his claim of being President. A part only of the States had a voice in his election. If he wishes everything done fairly according to the rule he has laid down, why doesn't he resign and give the eleven States which were unrepresented in the Electoral College a chance to vote? If Congress is to abdicate in favor of the rebellious States, let Johnson resign so that there may be a fair deal all round. Many of the Southern Congressmen elect ... members of the bogus Congress at Richmond, and the idea of consolidating this Confederate Congress with the Congress of the United States is as absurd as it would be for Johnson to take Jeff. Davis as his colleague in the Presidency.

Railroad Speed.—The Denver News of the 30th ult., states that on the Tuesday previous there was laid on the road approaching that point from Omaha, two miles and two hundred feet of track; and that this is more than double the distance ever laid in one day on any other road. It is confidently expected that the cars will be running to Cottonwood this Fall, and to Julesburg by next Spring. They expect to have two roads to Denver within a year from this Fall. General Dodge was locating the bridge for the railroad over the North Platte, which would be somewhere near the junction of the two rivers.

Montgomery Blair lately made a speech at Reading, Pennsylvania, in which he declared that the success of the radicals in the fall elections would result in another civil war. Does Blair mean that in such an event, Johnson, the copperheads and the late rebels would combine to oust Congress from the capital and to inaugurate another Congress, and thus precipitate "another civil war?" Such is the only inference we can discover. The Radicals will not begin a tumult under circumstances of success. If anybody brings on civil war it will inevitably be, as before, begun by the Democracy.

Synopsis.—A friend who has not had time or patience to read Johnson's last speech, desires us to publish a synopsis of it. Reduced to the main points it is as follows:

I—me—my policy—I—constitution—I—Radicals—mine—I.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO AUGUST 21.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

San Francisco, Aug. 22.—The Eastern line is working, but occupied with private business. No report received from the East to-day.

From Japan.

By bark Valetta, thirty-one days from Kanagawa, we have later dates from Japan. In the harbor of Yokohama there were four English men-of-war, two French and one Italian.

The principal feature in the import market appears to be the continued desire of some holders of cotton goods to move off their goods. Sales have been made at lower prices.

Civil war is raging in Southern Japan. There had been a serious riot at Shinpowsi; 3,000 rowdies armed with axes, etc., broke into 11 rice stations. The police and soldiery captured about 50 of the rioters on the 27th ult.

Yokohama was visited by a sudden and most severe hurricane.

The Italian corvette Magenta had arrived at Yokohama.

The Japan Times says: Business is very dull. Prospects of the new silk crop are not favorable, and our import trade remains in the same depressed state. Our next number will contain a review of the past silk season. The same paper says we need not remark on the fall of the Commercial Bank. We regret to have to announce that the Central Bank of Western India has also closed its doors here. This bank was the first established in Yokohama and for over two years had a clear lead among the financial institutions of the place.

A breach of promise suit was commenced in the Twelfth District Court, wherein Rebekah E. Miller commenced an action to recover $15,000 damages from Leonard C. Pettings, a lawyer of this city, for an alleged breach of promise of marriage, which promise is said to have been made in April 1864. The plaintiff states that she has ever since been ready and willing to marry defendant, but that he now absolutely refuses to make her his wife, greatly to her injury and damage as aforesaid.

Col. D. E. Hungerford, with about 500 true and tried men, most of whom, as well as their commander, have participated in active service during the rebellion, left this port in a schooner, some days since, and are well on their way to aid Juarez in ridding Mexico of the usurper.

A dispatch was received at the office of the Opposition steamship line this morning, stating that the steamship Santiago sailed from New York yesterday, with passengers and freight for this port, via Nicaragua.

The Howard Engine company's house and lot on California street, was sold for $27,150 to-day at auction, to Lewis Cohn.

A fire broke out about half-past three o'clock this morning, in a two-story frame building on Main street, next to the northwest corner of Mission street. Before it was subdued, it destroyed three two-story frame buildings adjoining, on Mission street, and seriously damaged another frame building on Main street; loss estimated at about $5,000.

The Markets.

Flour—There appears to be a lull in the demand for export. Superfine bbl sks ℔ 100lbs $4 75@5; qr sks $5@5 25; extra hf sks $5 25@5 50; qr sks $5 50@5 75.

Barley—Choice old $1 05 ℔ 100lbs.

Oats—At 40c.

Potatoes—Missions at 50@60c ℔ 100lbs; no others in market.

California cured meats are unchanged. Bacon 19@20c; hams 19@21c; lard 19@20c.

Wool—Little demand and prices entirely nominal, though perhaps a little lower, but in the absence of buyers quotations are not easily fixed.

Hides—California dry selected slaughterers' find sale in small quantities at 12@12½c.

Gold—Legal Tenders—Mining Stocks.

Latest gold quotation is 148.

There is more inquiry for legal tenders, and the market a trifle firmer, brokers buying at 71 and selling at 71¼.

Improvement in mining stocks noted yesterday is maintained to-day. Chollar held firm, $176 bid; Hale & Norcross sold for $16 00, and at close $15 50 was bid. From the morning board yesterday Yellow Jacket advanced $7 50, Ophir $4 50, and Overman $1 50. Savage declined $15, and Empire Mill $3.

Shipping.

Arrived—August 21st, British bark Valletta, 31 days from Kanagawa—teas.

Sailed—August 22d, Bremen bark Siam, Sydney.

LATE EASTERN NEWS.

We find the following in late Eastern exchanges:

COMMODORE TUCKER, C. S. N., MADE ADMIRAL OF THE PERUVIAN NAVY.

It is currently reported that John R. Tucker, formerly Commander in the United States Navy, and Commodore in the rebel service, has been appointed Admiral of the Peruvian Navy. He is at present in Lima, and it is said he is to assume command upon the arrival of the ironclads from Valparaiso. These are expected within the coming week. No doubt it will be exceedingly advantageous to the naval service of Peru to have thus at its head a man of undoubted ability and long experience. The only question is whether the appointment of a foreigner to such a position will not give rise to jealousy and discontent among the Peruvians themselves. It is to be hoped that the new arrangement will be accepted as a wise war measure, and accepted with true patriotism and heart. There is also a rumor that under the guidance of Admiral Tucker the war is to be transferred to the Atlantic. Cuba may receive a visit, or even Spain herself. Stranger events have happened.

"MY POLICY" ILLUSTRATED—OUTRAGES UPON FREEDMEN IN VIRGINIA.

Fortress Monroe, July 25.—The United States steamtug Gen... returned yesterday morning from the scene of the disturbance on the eastern shore in Virginia, near Drummondtown, between the inhabitants and the negroes. It appears the trouble originated in a band of white men hunting down some negroes for the purpose of attacking for one named Church, who, a few days previous, had attempted to cut the throat of a white man.

The negroes were robbed of their arms and money, when the negroes made complaint to the civil authorities, who issued warrants for the arrest of eleven of the whites. The 14th instant was set apart for the hearing of the case, at a village named Woodstock. On that day about one hundred well-armed white men assembled, threatened that they would kill every negro who attended to testify, and threatened the magistrate, Dix, with violence if the proceedings were continued.

The magistrate seeing the state of affairs, indorsed upon the warrants of arrest the impossibility of conducting the trial under such circumstances, and informed Major French, agent of the Freedmen's Bureau, of his action. The latter officer advised the negroes to quietly return to their houses. While they were doing so, they were again assaulted and pursued by the armed which until they reached places of safety. Upon the arrival of the troops the white men dispersed in every direction, and not one could be found after a most rigid search.

MEMPHIS RIOT REPORT.

Washington, July 26.—The report of the Select Committee appointed to investigate all matters connected with the Memphis riot and massacre was made to the House last night. It is signed by Representatives Washburne of Illinois, and Broomall of Pennsylvania, the other member, Shanklin of Kentucky, dissenting. They say the outbreak of the disturbance resulted from a collision between some policemen and discharged colored soldiers, which was seized upon as a pretext for an organized and bloody massacre of the colored people of Memphis, regardless of age, sex or condition, inspired by the teachings of the press, and led on by the sworn officers of the law, comprising the City Government and others.

The whole evidence disclosed the killing of men, women and children, the innocent, unarmed and defenseless, pleading for their lives and crying for mercy; the wounding, beating and maltreating of a still greater number; burning, pillaging and robbing; consuming of the dead bodies in the flames; the burning of dwellings, attempts to burn up whole families in their houses and the brutal and revolting ravishing of defenseless and terror-stricken women.

The report recapitulates the number of colored people killed at 46; whites, 2; rapes on colored women, 5; maltreated, 10; robberies, 100; houses and cabins burned, 91; churches, 4; school-houses, 12; value of property destroyed, $130,981. The Committee say the feeling in Memphis, and indeed through that entire section of the country, shows there is little loyalty to the Government and the flag. The state of things in Memphis is very much now as it was before the breaking out of the rebellion.

The Committee deliberately state that in their judgment there will be no safety to loyal men, either white or black, should the troops be withdrawn and no military protection afforded. The Committee believe it to be the duty of the Government to first try and punish the offenders, by military authority; also, by the same authority to levy a tax upon the citizens of Memphis sufficient to cover the losses of all property destroyed.

MEMPHIS JOHNSON-REBEL CONVENTION.

Memphis, July 26th.—The attendance at the Johnson-Rebel Convention at Court Square to-day numbered about 400, white and black.

General Glenn, of Fayette county, boasted repeatedly that he made Andy Johnson President, that he was one of the first to name Johnson for Governor years ago, and claimed consistency for him throughout.

Generals Stoneman, Morgan L. Smith, Buford and Forrest being present, were invited to take seats upon the stand. Stoneman and Smith did not accept.

After a mixture of patriotic and Southern airs, Colonel Haynes spoke. He wished the Confederate soldiers to support the Government, and to unite to put down radicalism, and referred, as once on a former occasion, to Congress as buzzing insects of the hour, infesting the spoils of office.

Colonel Hart, of the Commercial, reported resolutions approving the Philadelphia Convention, pledging their support of the Union under the Constitution, of the enforcement of the law, and authorizing the Philadelphia Convention to give them a platform of principles.

General Chalmers delivered a strong Southern speech. He was loudly cheered for declaring that he loved Jeff. Davis, and that Jeff. was the greatest statesman of the age. The South had lost more than the war debt of the North, and he asked with emphasis, whether the South ought now to assist in paying that debt. He declared that Northern soldiers were with the South, and would join with them in kicking Stevens and party out of the halls of Congress. The delegates to the Philadelphia Convention were here announced to be Leftwich, for the State at large, and some eighteen for West Tennessee.

Judge Williams followed, abusing Stevens.

Colonel Grace, of Arkansas, one of the first to take that State out of the Union, said he hoped the delegates would not allow themselves to be dictated to; they should go in on equal terms or none.

Captain Van Anderson declared that the word "loyal" stunk in his nostrils.

Judge Dunlap wished Union merchants pointed out. Country people would starve them away.

A PART OF JOHNSON'S PROGRAMME LEAKED OUT.

Memphis, July 25.—It has leaked out that J. W. Leftwich, Congressman elect from this district, before the late meeting of the Tennessee Legislature, wrote to an office-holder here that if he would secure the vote of F. S. Richards, Representative to the Legislature from Memphis, against the constitutional amendment, or his absence, he could hold his present office or have any he wanted. Richards went to Nashville and voted for the amendment and Leftwich immediately wrote to the office-holder that he was invited to resign. Leftwich, it is understood, has obtained the office for his partner. Leftwich secured the Government printing for the Argus, one of the strongest rebel papers in Memphis.

Northern Pacific Railroad in Congress.—On the 17th of July the bill granting Congressional aid for the Northern Pacific Railroad was taken up in the Senate, and after debate, was finally recommitted to the Pacific Railroad Committee to be further considered there.

STATE ITEMS.

We learn that the Eagle Creek quartz mines are turning out quite as well as the most sanguine anticipated. The Carter & Davidson mill is at present crushing custom rock from a ledge which yields $35 per ton.

We learn from Mr. Brown of French Prairie, that the wheat crop of that section threshes much lighter than the appearance of the crops before harvest had indicated. Very many of the heads which looked fair enough were found to be but little more than half filled. The quality of the grain is very fair.

Mr. Wills, a resident of Baker County, called on us yesterday. He says a ledge of quartz has recently been uncovered near Baker county, and claimed, we think, by Col Ruckle. It is some four miles nearer the Ruckle mill than the old ledge. It prospects well. The placer mines of Baker City are yielding more gold this season than ever before.

We learn from the Courier that last week W. Lair Hill, a Mr. Warren and old Boyakin had an interview at Lafayette, during which Mr. Hill struck Boyakin on the head with a pistol. Messrs Hill and Warren were a day or two afterwards arrested for the assault and Mr. Hill was fined twenty dollars, Mr. Warren being discharged. Immediately after the trial Boyakin was arrested upon a charge of perjury, but giving bail was released. Upon a subsequent examination, he was discharged.

FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

The following items are from the Olympia Tribune of the 15th:

RESIGNATION OF DEPUTY COLLECTOR.

Mr. G. F. Whitworth has resigned his position as Deputy Collector of Customs for this District, which will take effect in about two weeks, and goes to take charge of the Territorial University, at Seattle, as principal. Since Mr. Whitworth has been connected with the Custom House, universal satisfaction has been given to all having business there. The University, under his charge can but prosper. Mr. W. E. Barnard, former principal of the same school, goes as his successor.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

Hon. L. T. B. Andrews arrived by stage on Saturday evening, from California, where he has been spending a few weeks, endeavoring to enlist capital to open the coal mines back of Seattle, where he has a large interest. He passed on to Seattle on Monday morning.

The weather in this vicinity has been decidedly warm for a few days past, but elegant for harvesting. The thermometer has ranged as high as 90° in the shade.

Yesterday's steamer brought a fire alarm bell for the town. It is what is called a steel amalgam bell, from the foundry of Messrs. Cowing & Co., Seneca Falls New York, and weighs three hundred pounds.

For some days past fires have raged in the woods around this place. Undoubtedly much of it comes from logging camps, while a portion proceeds from land clearing.

The Ladies of Trinity Parish propose holding a Festival at Oro Fino Hall on Thursday next, the 30th inst. Contributions of cake, fruit and flowers will be thankfully received.

PICTURE VERDICT.—ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL, 80 First Street, have received the vox populi verdict which pronounces that the PHOTOGRAPHS, SUN PEARLS, etc., from this GALLERY are the finest ever produced on the Pacific coast. This accords with the opinion of transient residents, judges of art, who always visit this establishment during their short stay. This firm are prepared to meet all demands in the Picture line.

Meeting of the Common Council.—The regular weekly meeting of the Common Council was held last evening at 8 o'clock, Mayor Failing presiding.

The records of the previous meeting were read by the Auditor and Clerk and approved

Messrs Hoppen & Slandler were granted the use of half of First street, between Main and Salmon, for thirty days for building

The [illegible] on health and police to whom had been referred the [illegible] of sundry citizens asking for the repeal of the ordinance which has divorced women and whisky in the city reported favorable to the repeal, and [illegible] an ordinance for that purpose, which was read the first and second times In the regular order of business Mr [illegible] moved that the rules be suspended for the purpose of placing the ordinance upon its final passage but the motion was lost and the ordinance laid upon the table for action at the next regular meeting.

The [illegible] on streets and public property to whom was [illegible] the petition for and the remonstrance against the improvement of B street, recommended the [illegible] of the improvement as proposed between the west line of Front and the center of Sixth street but reported that a [illegible] existed for the improvement of the street [illegible] Front and Fifth streets and recommended that notice be published for such improvement in [illegible] with the charter The report and recommendation were adopted.

The same [illegible] reported relative to the new City Map, and [illegible] that the boundaries of the [illegible] be delineated in accordance with advice given by the City Attorney showing the connection of the [illegible] the uncertainty of actual location [illegible] to be determined by consent of the parties interested or a decree of the Circuit Court. The report was adopted, and the accompanying communication of the City Attorney was placed on file

The same [illegible] reported on a bill for extra work done on First street by Messrs J H Perry & [illegible] not provided in the contract, amounting to $37 50 by allowing the payment of $23 75 After some discussion pro and con, between Mr Lownsdale and Mr Halleck the latter [illegible] it a wrong precedent, and the former urging the payment of the claim as arguing that on all large [illegible] it was not unusual to find extra work [illegible] the [illegible] was carried by the following vote, [illegible] Lownsdale, McCraken O'Connor and Zeiber Nay Carter and Halleck

The [illegible] reported that Messrs. J H Perry & Co [illegible] completed the laying of the [illegible] street, that the work had been accepted [illegible] recommended that warrants be drawn in [illegible] sum of $2,307, and in favor of Messrs. [illegible] the sum of $232, for the use of the [illegible] 4,236 yards at 25 cents per yard in front [illegible] The report was adopted and warrants [illegible]

[illegible] was reported on the petition of Mrs [illegible] the grade at the intersection of [illegible] and Sixth streets, that the petitioner had been [illegible] as the grade was not affected in that locality [illegible] at the intersection of Morrison [illegible]

The [illegible] of the [illegible] of the building on Market [illegible], was referred to the Judiciary Committee for decision.

The select [illegible], to whom were referred the matter of [illegible] suitable rooms for the use of the Common Council and [illegible] Court, reported a proposition of [illegible] & Brownblatt, to lease for the term of [illegible] (with the privilege of two years,) the second story of the new building now in process of erection on the north [illegible] of [illegible] and Front st. as, suitably fitted, for the sum of $20 per month, and an ordinance [illegible] reading and authorizing the committee on streets and [illegible] property to contract with the parties for the rooms.

[illegible] against the city was [illegible] that of [illegible] amounting to $14, for connecting the [illegible] of Third and Montgomery streets, with the street main, which was referred to the committee on [illegible] waters.

The [illegible] of P. Raleigh against the opening of North Ninth, and Tenth streets, and the report of the [illegible] the same, were taken from the table and referred to the [illegible] on [illegible] and public property.

[illegible] a motion to adjourn was lost. [illegible] ballot on motion to adjourn, the ayes and noes being called for, it was lost by the following vote: [illegible] Carter, Lownsdale and [illegible]; [illegible] McCraken, O'Connor and Zeiber. After [illegible] motion prevailed, and the [illegible] accordingly.

[illegible] River.—Judge Anderson, Mr. [illegible] of our citizens, returned on Monday [illegible] John H. Couch from Astoria, after [illegible] lately discovered coal mine on the [illegible] of the coal brought to [illegible] Anderson, and from the [illegible] discovery, after a careful examination [illegible] features of the country, we are lead to believe that [illegible] a good quality of coal will result [illegible] The dye color, and the general appearance of the specimens shown us by Mr A. resemble [illegible] quality of coal so high estimated in Pennsylvania [illegible] coal and is not very great [illegible] the Cannel coal of Lancashire, being dry, [illegible] greater specific gravity and not burning [illegible] heated through. Cannel coal is highly [illegible] and is remarkable for the [illegible] with which it [illegible] being lighted at once by the flame of [illegible] from which instance the name was first applied. The rock [illegible] overlaying the strata is of a coarse [illegible] which upon exposure to the atmosphere becomes [illegible], and there are many other indications which tend to show the certainty of good coal and the [illegible]. The indications are so favorable that [illegible] they will be improved at once by an association of [illegible] men who have taken the matter in hand, and who appear to be fully satisfied on the point that it is at least worth proving, and who e judgment in [illegible] is [illegible] good. The local [illegible] is adapted to the purposes of shipping for more than half the year. The mine is two miles from [illegible], on the north bank of the north branch, eight miles from the [illegible]

[illegible]—We regret to learn that [illegible] do not intend turn [illegible] on the day of the [illegible] This [illegible] at the latter end in the [illegible] has heretofore [illegible] in many particulars when the services of [illegible] to a public demonstration. [illegible] many times the efforts of the community [illegible] the Department [illegible] to fill up the ranks, and speaking both as [illegible], we have often thought that the [illegible] in the Department, not only for [illegible] at fires, in saving from [illegible] of dollars' worth of property, but [illegible] have made of [illegible] the largest portion [illegible] in the [illegible] or along [illegible] We believe that the citizens should show some material approbation [illegible], and as we understand that [illegible] decline turning out on the very day [illegible] should [illegible] with [illegible] of economy, we will venture [illegible] that this is a most favorable time for the [illegible] the insurance agents and [illegible] to render [illegible] to the Department [illegible] We do not [illegible] the proposition [illegible] from the Department, as the [illegible] above asking such favors, but [illegible] more than proper that we [illegible] to the liberality of that class mostly [illegible]

To the Point. A letter was picked up in this city yesterday [illegible] been lost from the pocket of the writer, who has been known in Portland for years, while in [illegible] the Postoffice or Express office for an [illegible] of the contents were to the [illegible] that the writer is an Abolitionist, who, wishes to support Johnson's policy; that he will [illegible] of the Bread-and Butter Convention, [illegible] with a slice, in the shape of a Federal [illegible] in Oregon. A long enumeration of results likely to occur after his receipt of the appointment, follows the [illegible] that it be made, and the letter closes by saying that at present it looks as though the [illegible] was the only Union man in this country who would [illegible] the policy of Johnson but he has a hope of [illegible] many in the ranks eventually This may be [illegible] to the point, and shows to a certain extent the scenes behind the curtain

[illegible]—The almost criminal care[lessness] [illegible] drivers and draymen at the wharves [illegible] landing of steamers, is something that calls for [illegible] at the hands of our city officials. It is a very [illegible] upon the whistling of the steamer about to leave, that one or more of the teams whose drivers are [illegible] start, endangering the safety of [illegible] the wharf. Yesterday a team on Vaughn's wharf [illegible] narrowly missed running over two or three ladies and children who had just stepped off the [illegible] The driver, of course was not where he should [illegible] was prevented only by the [illegible] daring of another driver who happened to be in this case, "the right man in the right place."

New Firm. [illegible] Stitzel, in the name of the people of the State of Oregon, having taken possession of the [illegible] described in a certain instrument lately emanating from the Circuit Court for this county, has opened store on First [illegible], between Washington and Alder streets, and is doing a rushing business We called in [illegible] day to witness some of the transactions occurring and found that he had employed Mr B Jacoby as chief clerk, [illegible] by Mr S. S Snow Mr Fred Sargeant Mr Geo. A. Gilbert, and Mr C B Upton all of whom were up to their eyes in [illegible], checking and marking the large stock in proper shape for a mammoth catalogue sale, to take place on the premises on the first day of [illegible]

Awkward Backward.—As will be observed by reference to the proceedings of the Board of Councilmen had last evening, the committee on Health and Police recommend that the fair name of our honored city shall take a step back in order to gratify the morbid tastes of a few [illegible], and overreaching property holders We trust the [illegible] will be disregarded Emanating from that committee we can conceive the motive which [illegible] their action. If adopted it can in [illegible] to the [illegible] of the city but would very [illegible] to [illegible] the Police business, and fill our city jail with reckless and lawless characters to be [illegible] at the expense of the tax payers.

Knocked down and Robbed—J F McCoy Esq was knocked down and robbed Tuesday night under the following circumstances About half eight o'clock, as he was passing up Third street between Main and Madison he met two men who suddenly came around the corner of Madison—both of them low heavy set men in dark clothes and black slouched hats Mr McCoy passed between them As he did so they clutched him one on each arm, the one on the right by the collar of his coat and the right shoulder the one on the left by the left arm and shoulder (the time a [illegible] his right arm, [illegible] Mr McCoy [illegible] right arm [illegible] [illegible] when he received a [illegible] from the [illegible] other than [illegible] the butt of a pistol [illegible] the back of his head which knocked him down senseless When he recovered the men were gone He was not conscious at the time of being robbed but upon reaching home found his vest pocket had been rifled of $23 or $24 He received several bruises on his person besides the cut and bruise on his head He had no weapon and could not use his cane Mr McCoy thinks he knows the perpetrators of the dastardly act We sincerely trust that whatever clue to their identity which may exist, will be closely followed up till the scoundrels shall be brought to justice

Great Discovery—J Lorgea, Esq, furniture dealer Front street showed us a sample of a weed yesterday which, in its prepared state, closely resembles curled hair such as is used by upholsterers in making mattrasses &c The manner of preparing this article (which grows near Dutch Flat, California, and is also found in some parts of Oregon being, generally known as "soap root") was discovered by two upholsterers a short time since. The bulb resembles a large onion, and is cut by machinery into fine threads and then twisted and curled similar to rope-yarn It is produced annually, and as the price will be about half that of curled hair, it must supercede that article, as well as moss and pulu A large shipment is now being made East. The advantage claimed for it is its entire freedom from animal matter and its consequent purity and cleanliness, while its elasticity and softness are far superior to the best curled hair

Ladies' Festival.—On Thursday next the ladies of Trinity Parish in this city, propose giving another of those social and pleasant entertainments for which they are noted, at Oro Fino Hall Contributions of cakes, etc., will be thankfully received

FROM THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.

The Honolulu Advertiser of July 14th, contains the following items.

By advices received this week from Kauai we learn that the schooner Onward proved a total wreck at Waimea Her masts, anchors and chains were brought to this port by the Nellie Merrill.

A letter from Hawaii states that the crater of Kilauea still continues very active—more so than it has been for several years

That portion of the citizens of Kauai who reside on the Princeville Plantation and in the vicinity of Hanalei celebrated the Fourth in a manner worthy of the occasion

Reports having been in circulation regarding the health of His Highness M Kekuanaoa, and the Governess of Hawaii, we deem it proper to correct them The venerable ex-Governor has not been enjoying his customary good health, since the death of his daughter, the Princess, which has weighed heavily upon him He has been able to be about, however and rides out daily, and we trust will soon regain his usual vigor and health

The bark Swallow left this port for Japan and China on Saturday last about 2 P M Quite a crowd of residents assembled on the Esplanade and as she cast off from the pier with all her sails set, three hearty cheers went up for the American Ministers and passengers on board, which were responded to by them The Ministers expressed great satisfaction with their visit at this port, and with the attentions bestowed on them by officers of His Majesty's Government and by citizens generally

It is currently reported that His Excellency F W Hutchinson resigned the portfolio of Minister of the Interior on Tuesday last. The supposed reasons are disagreement with the Cabinet on the Paper Money Bill, and the two defeats which the Ministry have sustained in the Legislative Assembly during the past two weeks The first defeat was that recorded in our last issue, when the paper bill was thrown out by the overwhelming vote of 31 to 8. The second was the passing of the Ministers salaries at $5,000, after the Ministerial Committee had reported strongly in favor of $6,000

CALIFORNIA ITEMS

The Stockton Independent of the 13th says There are now, at least, over fifteen hundred tons of wheat on the levee in this city, awaiting shipment to the Bay, and no [illegible] to carry it off In a conversation with one of the prominent buyers, we ascertained that purchasers will be, on that account, obliged to stop buying therefore it is proper that the farmer should know and know at once, this condition of affairs

The Chairman of the World's Fair Committee has received a telegram stating that California would be allowed a space at the World's Fair at Paris, and articles from California could be shipped to Paris direct The Chairman of the Committee has telegraphed for from 600 to 800 square feet for California. It is understood that the contributions of the State Agricultural Society will require 300 square feet for exhibition

The Merced Herald says a malignant fever is quite prevalent in that part of the State.

The Nye County News, of July 25th, says, on Tuesday last four covered wagons, loaded with women and children, and their household traps, from California, passed through town, on their way to "the States"

Mark Twain has returned from the Sandwich Islands.

The following appears in the Flag of Aug. 14th

An immensely rich quartz ledge has been discovered about 40 miles from Oroville and named the Jennie ledge It can be traced 3,000 feet, from four to six feet in width The rock is fabulously rich, and appears inexhaustible on either side of the vein there is a deposit of granulated quartz studded with gold, about two in width and lying so loose that it may be [illegible] up without the application of a pick

FROM THE PLAINS.

The Austin (Nevada) Reveille of August 9th, has the following notice of the Emigrants

Ta rich Cavanagh, who this morning arrived in town overland from Wisconsin, called at our office and gave us some [illegible] of the trip. He left Omaha with a train of twenty-six wagons, containing fifteen families, from the States of Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa, but chiefly from the latter State Near Fort Kearney a young man named James, who was traveling with his family was accidently shot in the leg with a pistol, which will result probably in his being crippled for life. Otherwise the [illegible] of the immigrants was pleasant and undisturbed by weather or Indians. While passing in the neighborhood of Fort Laramie, they observed a large number of encampments of Indians who covered the plain like buffaloes Kavanagh estimated their number to be from 10,000 to 15 000 They were engaged in the profitable farce of "treating" with our Government officials—which the Indians would seem to regard a sort of [illegible] for the past and [illegible] for the future According to Kavanagh the bulk of the immigration this [illegible] is destined for Montana All of the families in the train with which Kavanagh traveled across the Plains are [illegible] to California where they had previously [illegible] of which have already [illegible] through here to that sweet [illegible] Kavanagh left eleven wagons of the train at Simpson's Park, seven miles north-east of Austin, where they will recruit their stock

Georgia.—A H. Stephens, rebel Vice-President, with H. V. Johnson and B. H. Hill, Senators in the rebel Congress, represented Georgia in the Philadelphia Convention. Hill wrote a letter prior to the Convention, urging [illegible] and indicating how he would represent the State. The following is an extract

The North triumphed by using the Government. and now, [illegible] as it always intended to destroy the Government The Government must now spring out of the embrace of her original and most bitter foe, and struggle for its life—the Constitution. It is to be a fierce contest. It will be easier to reconcile the South to the Union, than to reconcile the North to the Constitution The movement at Philadelphia is to save the Constitution Let every other issue stand adjourned until this one of salvation be decided By a combination of all conservative men, constitutional salvation may be possible The South sought to save the Constitution out of the Union. She failed, Let her now bring her diminished and shattered, but united and earnest councils and energies, to save the Constitution and the Union

A Clergyman, (Rev R. J McHenry) writing from Halifax, N. S., says "Having suffered several years with throat affection—to which Clergymen are especially subject and having used various remedies, I have pleasure in giving my testimony as to the relief I have had in the discharge of my Sabbath labors from the use of 'Brown's Bronchial Troches.' They have been a great comfort. Others to whom I have recommended them, have used them with advantage " For Coughs and Colds the Troches are equally efficacious

DRY GOODS.

Meagher, Taaffe & Co, No 9 Lick House, Montgomery street, will never get through selling their immense stock of dry goods, piled up in their retail store as above, so the ladies say And why? We say, because they replenish their stock every day, from their wholesale house on Battery street, and increase their Battery street house from the New York house That is why they can afford to sell goods so much cheaper than any other dry goods establishment in San Francisco Packages of goods sold are sent home to the purchasers the same day, by their porters, who are kept busy on the run Now, ladies, you have the secret, why Meagher, Taaffe & Co sell so much and at such low prices. au20dtf

The Southern Unionists

CIRCULAR ACCOMPANYING THE CALL FOR A CONVENTION OF LOYALISTS FROM THE SOUTHERN STATES

WASHINGTON (D C), July 10, 1866

SIR —The undersigned have been appointed by the signers of the accompanying call a committee to address you in their behalf and urge you to prompt and energetic efforts in the appointment of delegates from your State and section to meet delegates from the other Southern States in Philadelphia on the first Monday in September next. By the strong ties of common sufferings in the past, and the dangers present and future which surround us, we appeal to you once more to come to the rescue in a moment of imminent danger to yourselves and our country

We had all hoped that when treason was beaten in the field and their armed traitors captive to the Government which they had wickedly sought to destroy, we of the South who, through four long years of untold suffering and horrors, adhered to her fortunes and to her banner amidst all the changes and vicissitudes of war, would at last receive protection to all constitutional rights of American citizens We relied confidently on the sense of justice and gratitude of all the loyal citizens of the United States through their Senators and Representatives in Congress to guard in the most effectual manner our future peace and security against the malevolence, vindictiveness, hate and disloyalty of the late rebels This confidence we believe has not been misplaced We relied, too, as we had a right to rely, on the earnest and efficient co-operation of the Executive of the nation placed in power by the great Union party of the country, because of his supposed devotion to the Government and his abhorrence of treason and desire to see "intelligent, conscious traitors" punished and made disreputable

We confidently expected his hearty co-operation with the political department of the Government in providing such governments in the States lately in rebellion as would protect the country from conspirators, in official positions, against its peace, and secure the loyal citizens in life, liberty and property, together with the inestimable privilege of impressing upon the minds of others his conscientious convictions of truth by speech or through the medium of the press. We also had reason to hope that the freedman as well as the loyal white man in the South would find ample protection for all his rights as an American citizen, by actual military force if necessary, until equal laws and corrected public sentiment would place them on a firm and enduring basis In these hopes, predicated on the oft-repeated declarations of the President, we have been grievously disappointed—cruelly deceived.

We have neither seen treason made odious nor traitors disreputable by any act of the Executive of the nation. We have seen traitors—leading, intelligent, conscious traitors—bearing away from the national Capitol with exultation, in the same pocket indemnity for the past and endorsement and security for the future in the form of special pardons and appointments to Federal office, while leading intelligent Unionists were made conscious that fidelity to the Government was not the passport to Executive favor, but, on the contrary, servile subserviency to the President and his "policy," as against the deliberate and matured judgment of the people of the United States and the constitutional power of the Senators and Representatives in Congress, were the only conditions required of applicants for favor, whose claims thus sustained were in no instance impaired by [illegible] antecedents.

We have seen our States that remained in rebellion to the close of the war, without an exception, remitted to the control of a rebel magistracy, elected by rebels to the exclusion of the friends of the Union. With one voice we can testify to the encouragement given to traitors and treasonable sentiments in the South in the last twelve months, and the deep gloom and despondency which has settled upon the minds and hearts of the loyal people in those States

When the effect of the President's policy was first felt to be pernicious and ruinous we were justified—certainly excusable—in believing that it was but an error in judgment that would be corrected by him with promptitude as soon as discovered We had well hoped that he would hold to a just accountability those who we believed had so grossly abused his [illegible] and apparent magnanimity. They have [illegible] understood him far better than we The entire course of the rebel [illegible] to meet his [illegible] and [illegible]. The [illegible] pardoned rebel to the Chief Magistracy of a rebel State, who in his first message to the Legislature denounced the war on the part of the United States against the rebellion as the most unholy and disgraceful in character ever practiced by a Christian nation, had the effect of procuring his speedy pardon.

The entire control by late rebels and present conspirators against the peace of the country, of eleven States, men who cherish the most deadly hatred of all lovers of the Government, and are threatening them with violence as in the beginning of the rebellion, who denounce the loyal people of the loyal States and heap invectives on their loyal Senators and Representatives in Congress, who they pray may be forcibly ejected by the bayonet from the halls of the national Capitol, and the Government administered by the will of the President, these and such as these, together with their Northern sympathizers, are esteemed the advisers and counselors of the Chief Magistrate of the nation, and constitute the material out of which a new party—the Johnson party—is to be formed, to guide the country through its present perils and avoid its future dangers

The leaders of this movement are well understood by the loyal country. The President and his friends, well knowing that he had forever forfeited the confidence of the great Union party which elected him, have determined to organize a new party of this "speckled progeny of many conjunctions." The effect has been to consolidate and crystalize the Union party. It stands to-day more compact and [illegible] confident than at any period of its [illegible]. Its triumph in the approaching Fall elections is not only certain, but will be overwhelming. What is the duty of the [illegible] Unionists of the South, and what is to be their position? Our duty is plainly to act with the friends of the Government, who are our friends and our only friends We must take position with the loyal people and the Congress of the nation against the machinations of the [illegible] coalition of [illegible] and Northern sympathizers.

We can have no affiliation with those, who deride and hate us because of our love of the Union avowed in the past, and who, there is abundant reason to believe, are at this moment again conspiring to overthrow the Government. If those who are to constitute this new party should attain power and [illegible] themselves of the control of the Government, what consideration may we expect at their hands, what mercy can we hope? They have proved faithless to every pledge and obligation however sacred, both before and since the rebellion. The most solemn oaths are used by them as a mere cloak for treachery. The magnanimity and mercy on the part of the outraged Government [illegible] and insultingly [illegible] they [illegible] from [illegible] and punishment. No [illegible] furnishes [illegible] example of such [illegible] and [illegible].

To the Union party, and to that alone, we look for relief from our present unhappy condition and for permanent security in the future. The party is powerful enough to succeed without our aid, but it is none the less our duty to signalize our devotion to the principles of republican liberty, which that party is so nobly sustaining, by active [illegible] co-operation on our part Moreover, if we wish the support, the countenance and protecting care of the Union party to shield us from the dangers which now threaten us, we must not be afraid to make known to them our condition and dire necessities. It is scarcely too much to say that the Southern Unionists, though too weak for self protection, hold in their hands the key to the solution of the question of the reorganization of civil State Governments in the South. We know it has been said that we have been ignored by all parties in and out of Congress—that we are being ground to death between the upper and nether mill-stones. Let it be remembered that as a party in the South we have made no effort to make known our wants, our conditions, our hopes and our sufferings

We do assure you that, it is the wish, the ardent desire and intention of Congress to give us protection and security when fully advised of our needs

Let us then perform our duty to ourselves and our country by meeting together for consultation upon our present condition and future interests, and present to the country the united voice of the downtrodden Unionists of the South, presenting a fearless and truthful statement of facts which shall command the attention and challenge the confidence and sympathy of every friend of the Government and of human liberty throughout the land.

It may be that fear of the despotism over the minds and consciences of men that existed in the beginning of the rebellion and reigned supreme in the South during its continuance, will again assert its power and condemn to eternal punishment those who may dare respond to our call We have but to say that whatever danger threatens, and whatever sacrifices are involved we must aid in breaking the shackles that bind us

If the enemies of free Government do not yet understand that the rights of American citizenship are to be paramount and supreme over the hellish spirit born of slavery and nurtured by bigotry, ignorance and prejudice they will learn it in the throes and struggles of the next civil commotion which they and their abettors inaugurate

One other step and they will have placed themselves forever without the pale of forgiveness The fiat has gone forth The people of the United States have resolved that this shall be a Government of freedom and equal rights to all, and woe to those who shall hereafter resist this solemn judgment. He who is guilty of a second rebellion to this Government will appeal in vain for pardon Let us act boldly, as becomes free men, and if we should thereby incur danger, the country will understand and appreciate the shameless hypocrisy of those who prate of their loyalty and right to readmission into the Union in one breath and in the next excite a brutalized mob to violence upon a citizen for exercising the constitutional right of meeting his fellow citizens to petition the political power of the nation for a redress of grievance Let us do our duty, and trust to God and our loyal countrymen for vindication and protection

We urge you to lose no time in making your nominations by public meetings or otherwise, as may be most convenient for you. You can scarcely conceive the importance which gentlemen from every part of the country attach to this proposed meeting of Southern Unionists We venture to say we have, in a great measure, our destiny in our own hands It is earnestly hoped that we will wisely use the power we possess.

Your obedient servants,

Grand Union Demonstration at Nashville

GOVERNOR BROWNLOW PRESENT ON A PALLET

[Dispatch to the Missouri Democrat]

NASHVILLE, July 22 —Saturday was a proud day for the Union men of Tennessee A call for a meeting of the unconditional loyalists to send delegates to the Southern Union Convention at Philadelphia, September 3d, had been published for two days previous in the Nashville Press and Times, Between three and four o'clock in the afternoon of Saturday, crowds of Union-loving people began to wend their way to the Capital When the hour designated in the call arrived the spacious hall of the House of Representatives was filled with the throng. The event of the week had made all the loyal feel good, and the brightest enthusiasm was upon every countenance The members of both branches of the legislature were there All the State officers were present, and a host of loyal people, both native and adopted Tennesseans occupied the floor and galleries

Gen. R. H. Milroy was called temporarily to the chair.

Gen. J. Eaton, the earnest and able editor of the Memphis Post, proposed the following permanent officers President, J. B. Frierson, Speaker of the Senate. Vice Presidents: Gen. R. M Milroy, John Trimble, Gen. Wm J. Smith, N. Derby, Col. G. D. Thornburg, D. W. O Shuler, Joseph Powell, John Hannon, H H. Hanson and W. K. Hall Secretaries S. C. Mercer and J. J Noah. The Chairman stated the object of the meeting amid loud cheers, and James Mullens, S M. Arrell, Gen, Eaton, J M Cole and A J Fletcher were appointed a Committee on Resolutions During the absence of the Committee, Senator Senter and other gentlemen, called upon by the audience, made some interesting speeches. Mullens then introduced the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, A call has been made for a Convention, to be held at Philadelphia, September 3, 1866, to be composed of Southern Unionists who agree upon principles of impartial justice, as enunciated by a majority of the [illegible] Congress, and whereas, we have this day met pursuant to a call from the loyal and unconditional Union members of the Legislature and many citizens of the State, for the purpose of appointing delegates to said Convention, therefore,

Resolved, That we heartily approve the objects of this call, and in obedience thereto designate the following delegates. First, Governor and Staff, Secretary of State, Controller, and loyal and unconditional loyalists, citizens of Tennessee, who can make it convenient to be present, upon handing their names to the Tennessee delegation.

Resolved, That the unconditional Unionists of Tennessee are part and parcel of the great national Union party, and ready and willing to demonstrate by every act and deed their unwavering fidelity to the cause of the Union, to aid in opposing all measures that tend to disrupt and destroy the Union of States, to be true to liberty and justice, to the patriot dead and surviving soldiers of the nation, and to the memory of liberty's martyr, Abraham Lincoln.

Resolved, That the loyal unconditional Unionists of Tennessee do not recognize the approaching August Convention at Philadelphia in any other light than an attempted fraud upon the true loyalty of the country; that said Convention presupposes by the character of delegates, [illegible] tion, treachery and rebellion

Resolved, That our thanks are due and are hereby offered to the Congress of the United States for their stern and unyielding resistance to the usurpations of the President, in his attempt to surrender the Unionists of the South to the malevolent, unrepentant spirit of rebellion or secession

Resolved, That we recognize a new spirit of rebellion in Tennessee, in resistance to wholesome laws, in its efforts to prevent constitutional legislation by contumacious members, and vicious interference with parliamentary privileges by a partisan judge All these revolutionary manifestations are evidently fostered and sustained by an unfaithful national executive.

Resolved, That we recognize a faithful press as the true work of liberty, and that the thanks of the unconditional Union men of Tennessee are due and are hereby tendered to the Memphis Post, the Nashville Press and Times, Staats Zeitung, Knoxville Whig and Jonesboro Flag, and that the thanks of the Union party of this State are due and are hereby most cordially tendered to the Cincinnati Gazette for placing before the great loyal people of the North the true position of the Tennessee Unionists.

Each resolution, as read, was greeted with thundering applause. A warm debate sprang up as to whether so much of the fifth resolution as refers to the vicious interference of a partisan Judge meaning of course, Judge Frazier, could not be struck out. John Hugh Smith and Capt. Allen thought it should, as it was an imputation upon Judge Frazier's honesty, which they could not indorse. Secretary Fletcher replied that the resolutions did impugn Judge Frazier's honesty. But the latter had been used by bad and designing men to render a decision for partisan ends which stands without a parallel for audacity and enormity either in this country or in England A judge who will thus suffer himself to be made a tool of by disloyal politicians is too imbecile to hold his seat, and partisan is the mildest term we can apply to him. Secretary Fletcher's remarks were received with great enthusiasm, and the resolutions were adopted unanimously, amid a storm of cheers

Governor Brownlow was loudly called for, but his feeble health would not permit him to respond. The dauntless patriot lay, however, upon a pallet in the corner of the hall, attentively watching all that took place

Secretary Fletcher was then called to the stand, and spoke, telling [illegible] three-quarters of an hour in length, describing the history of recent events in Tennessee, exposing in scathing language the perfidious and treacherous course of Andy Johnson, and exhorting the loyalists of Tennessee to stand fast by the great Union party of the nation The audience listened to the Secretary's speech with enthusiastic interest throughout. The magnificent band of the Sixteenth Regulars enlivened the whole affair with delicious music A vote of thanks was tendered to them and Captain Wm Haydt, the faithful and now famous House Sergeant at Arms, and amid loud cheers for the Union, for the State Government and Congress, for the flag, for the Constitutional Amendment, for the Union Party, for General Thomas and the soldiers of the republic, the meeting dispersed.

Altogether it was one of the grandest and most significant demonstrations for the Union and loyalty that has yet been held in a Southern State

Gen Scott's Recollections of Aaron Burr

Gen Scott proceeded to relate the circumstances in which he next saw Aaron Burr He said that during the war of 1812, after he had recovered from his wound received on the frontier, he lived for a short time at Albany, where he was much feted by the leading inhabitants, and by none more cordially than by Martin Van Buren, then a lawyer, in large practice One morning a packet arrived from Washington which proved to contain the young soldier's commission as Brigadier General Full of joy at his promotion he mentioned the fact to Mr Van Buren, whom he chanced to meet Mr Van Buren congratulated him warmly, and added

"But, General, we must celebrate this happy event Come to my house this evening, I'll invite a few friends, and we'll take a glass of wine and a few oysters together"

The new General accepted the invitation But suddenly, a thought seemed to occur to the cautious lawyer—cautious for his friends as well as for himself—and he appeared embarrassed

"General," he said, "I forgot something which I ought to have mentioned before asking you to my house Col. Burr is stopping with me for a few days Have you any objection to meet him?"

To which Gen Scott replied

"Any gentleman, Mr Van Buren, whom you think proper to present to me, I shall be happy to know"

Col. Burr, the reader is probably aware had recently returned from Europe, where he had lived four years, and he was almost universally regarded by the public as a traitor who had escaped the penalty of treason only by the craft of his lawyers Almost all his friends had quit him and the Administration, under President Madison, who had just promoted Gen Scott, was supposed to be particularly hostile to him Hence the hesitation of Mr Van Buren about bringing together the young soldier and the old

The evening came The company consisted of four persons one of whom was the courteous, polite and courtly Burr Gen Scott remembered him well, but forebore to make the most distant allusion to the trial at Richmond

"Why," said the General to me, "I was so careful not to say anything that could excite painful recollections, that I actually checked myself as I was about to pronounce the word Virginia"

All at once Col Burr, who was the General's partner at whist, fixed his piercing eyes upon his face, and said, in a perfect nonchalant tone

"General Scott, I have seen you before"

The General blushed, and stammered out

"Have you, Colonel? And where was it?"

Burr replied, in the most ordinary tone of conversation, as he put down his card:

"At Richmond, in the court room, at my trial. You stood on the lock of the door above the crowd, I noticed you at the time; it was on the first day."

All of which was true The room being densely crowded, the young man had got up upon the massive lock, and, being so remarkably tall, he had caught the prisoner's eye. The General said that Burr's careless tone completely relieved him from his embarrassment, and they had a long and pleasant talk about Richmond and the Richmond people, the trial and its remarkable incidents, Burr speaking precisely as though he had been a disinterested spectator The party sat late, and had a very delightful evening Col Burr made one remark on this occasion which Gen Scott long had occasion to remember I forget the words employed, but they were something like these—

"There is a man in Tennessee" said Burr, "to whom Jimmy Madison would not give a commission because he is a friend of mine; but he is equal to any service I mean Andrew Jackson If they give him a commission things will go better in the western country"

I need not say that Jimmy Madison did give Andrew Jackson a commission, and that things did go better in the western country in consequence

Speaking of Martin Van Buren, for whom Gen Scott had a great regard, he alluded to the popular tradition that the ex-President was the son of Aaron Burr He gave a decided denial to this scandal, and adduced convincing reasons for rejecting it.

The other two occasions upon which Gen. Scott saw Aaron Burr were mere chance meetings in the street. The General remarked Burr's habit of glancing sideways at an approaching acquaintance to ascertain in time whether he meant to cut him, and if he did, Burr would prevent the slight by looking away.

Gen Scott's memory was full to overflowing of interesting recollections of the men and events of the past. If he could have written those recollections as well as he related them in conversation, his autobiography would have been one of the most interesting books, instead of being one of the dullest ever published In fact, I find that most persons, when they write, leave out the things that people care most to know —James Parton.
